The Northern District of California United States Probation Office seeks to serve the U.S. Court System and improve public safety by investigating and supervising individuals convicted of federal crimes, enforcing sentences, and providing correctional treatment to persons under supervision. The Office is now seeking qualified U.S. Probation Officers. Selected candidates may be placed at Classification Level (CL) 23, 25, 27, or 28 depending on qualifications and experience, with promotion potential to CL-25, CL-27, or CL-28 U.S. Probation Officer without further competition for selected candidates placed at CL-23, CL-25, and CL-27. More than one position may be filled from this vacancy announcement.

The ideal candidate will be an accomplished and self-motivated individual with excellent interpersonal skills and strong work-ethic. This individual will embrace our mission and be committed to and believe in our vision of working together creatively to transform lives in enhancing the safety of our community.

Our fast-paced, highly service-oriented environment will provide opportunities for challenging and rewarding work as a member of the probation team. The successful individual must be able to thrive in an environment that promotes teamwork and professional enrichment where we commit to supporting and defending the U.S. Constitution, the worth and dignity of all people, defending their right to be treated with fairness and respect, believing that all people are capable of positive change using evidence-based practices.

We promote diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) in the work setting. This is accomplished in the establishment of an internal DEI Committee which is responsible for district-wide initiatives, celebration of heritage months, and staff training.

POSITION DESCRIPTION: For the Northern District of California United States Probation Office, the Probation Discipline is bifurcated, consisting of Presentence Investigation and Post-Conviction Supervision. Presentence Investigation (PSI) Officers will conduct investigations and prepare presentence reports assessing convicted individuals' ability to pay fines, restitution, cost of prosecution, incarceration, and supervision; apply U.S. Sentencing Commission guidelines and case law; determine appropriate sentencing recommendations after analyzing any objections to presentence reports; and resolve disputed issues and testify in court based on factual findings. Post-Conviction Supervision Officers will develop a supervision plan for persons under supervision, maintain case records, and maintain personal contact with persons under supervision to ensure adherence to court-imposed conditions and required correctional treatment. Supervision Officers will coordinate, monitor, and verify persons' under supervision activities with treatment facilities, counselors, shelters, and/or employment. The selected Supervision Officer candidate will use evidence-based practices to assess risk and needs, as well as monitor compliance with court ordered conditions. Supervision Officers will investigate violations, report violations to the court, and implement appropriate alternatives or sanctions to address risk. All officers will perform other duties as assigned.

The duties of probation officers require the investigation and management of convicted individuals who present physical danger to the public. In the supervision, treatment, and control of persons under supervision, these duties require moderate to arduous physical ability, including prolonged periods of walking and standing, physical dexterity and coordination necessary for officer safety, and use of self-defense tactics. Daily, probation officers face unusual mental and physical stress because they are subject to danger and possible harm during frequent, direct contact with individuals who are convicted of committing federal offenses.

Because probation officers potentially deal with physical threats and are subject to moderate to arduous physical exertion, applicants must be physically capable. Probation officers must possess, with or without corrective lenses, good distance vision in at least one eye and the ability to read normal size print. Normal hearing ability, with or without a hearing aid, is also required. Any severe health problems, such as physical defects, disease, and deformities that constitute employment hazards to the applicant or others, may disqualify an applicant. Examples of health problems that may be disqualifying are an untreated hernia, cardiovascular disorders, serious deformities or disabilities of the extremities, mental health disorders, fainting and/or seizure disorders, metabolic disorders, bleeding disorders, pulmonary disorders, and marked speech abnormalities.

First-time appointees to positions covered under law enforcement officer retirement provisions must not have reached their 37th birthday at the time of appointment. Applicants 37 or over who have previous law enforcement officer experience under the Civil Service Retirement System or the Federal Employees' Retirement System and who have either a subsequent break in service or intervening service in a non-law enforcement officer position may have their previous law enforcement experience subtracted from their age to determine whether they meet the maximum age requirement.
